

Amos "Tubbs" Courville Jr.

August 4, 1924 - December 6, 2010

Amos "Tubbs" Courville Jr. (86) of Medicine Valley passed away on December 6, 2010 in Yakima. He was born in Auburn on August 4, 1924 to Amos and Maggie (Daniels) Courville Sr. He was raised and educated in Auburn and at various Indian Mission schools in the Tacoma area. He worked as a logger and commercial fisherman and moved to the Yakima Valley in 1978. In his retirement he continued to fish in the Puget Sound area. He was a longtime member of the Muckleshoot Shaker Church. Tubbs was the oldest enrolled member of the Muckleshoot Tribe and last WWII veteran of the tribe. He is survived by his wife, Loretta Swearingen of Medicine Valley; eight children, Delwin Courville, Shirley Taylor and LeeRoy Courville all of Auburn; Wesley, Rosetta and John LeClair all of Shelton, Nadine LaClair and Joy Sanchey both of Medicine Valley; numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren; one brother, George Barr and one sister, Marge McKluskey both of Auburn. Tubbs was preceded in death by his parents, two children; two brothers and four sisters. Visitation will be held on Friday December 10, 2010 from 12-3PM at Colonial Funeral Home. Overnight services will be at the 1910 Shaker Church on Friday evening with funeral services on Saturday March 11, 2010 at 10AM at the church. Friends may send condolences at www.toppenishfunerals.com. Colonial Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.
