“ She was a beautiful soul, sharing her joy in life and love of learning with everyone around her. The Heritage University learning community is diminished by her untimely absence; she will be deeply missed. I pray that her family be blessed with whatever support they need in this terrible time. --Dr. Kirstin James-Dunn

“ In my Intro to Sociology, SOC 101, class at Heritage University, this spring, Christen was such a wonderful student. What an amazing, upbeat, and caring person. She was always ready to contribute to discussions and her Professional Learning Community (PLC) group spoke of her as one who would go the extra mile to help the group members research and learn. Her voice as a social justice advocate will be missed. Dr. Catherine Hardison, Professor.

“ I barely met Christen this semester at heritage university but she was a big spirit who left an impacting memory in my life, she always had such a warming smile on her face and was happy and proud to talk about her life to try and help someone that might have needed to hear it. She will be greatly missed....

“ Christen-

Thanks for everything you done for Kim and I you are a amazing wonderful, beautiful person. I had a hard time fitting in, at Job Corps , once I met you, I was find. I'm so blessed to have met you and had you as a friend. I've never been this happy as I am with Kim, and that's all thanks to you introducing us. It's so hard to believe your gone. Your an Angel. I promise I'll take good care of Kim like I promised, lol. I miss your smile, your laugh, the way you lit up a room with your way of life. Friends for life. Love you miss you I'll never forget you.

“ She was my Dorm Chief in Job Corps. She made waking up everyday fun. She always had a smile on her face. She helped me out a lot. I got bullied a lot from some girls in the dorm, but she always put a stop to it. There was a few times I wanted to quit and go home, but she wouldn't let me. I graduate in 2009 because of her advice and giddiness. I met my fiancée now in job corps because of her introducing us LOL! She met everything to us. I can't believe your gone girl. You'll always have a place in our hearts, always and forever. Even after Job corps she always made time to just say hi and talk. Love you and miss you I'll never forget you. Your such a beautiful amazing person.

“ Hey Christen. I know it’s been some time. I am sorry we grew apart. I did however think of you often! We had so many good memories together. You were like my other half in job corps! We ran that place. We were so BOSS! I’ll never forget a single one of them. 💙

“ My beautiful friend, so many prayers for you. Creator has always had a hand on your life. My heart is filled with gratitude, though deeply saddened and hurt by your passing. One thought that come is no matter the distance or time between us there was never a loss of love or connection. Ill continue to hold you close to my heart and my prayers will be for your baby boy now. I'm so proud of you! Ill do what i can for him here. Remembering some of our visits we simply couldn't get enough of eachother and would turn to a sleep over. Thinking of the first time I seen you when you came back home. We were so happy to see eachother. Stood around an chatted for so long our spouses made convo for a while then split ways all the while we still was visiting. More than an hour had passed and the rodeo over we still was deep in covo. Eventually we noticed the world around us hadn't stopped and we decided we better catch up later since we kinda left our men hanging. Our talks were always like that. I'll hold those words and the love dear to my heart. I'll acknowledge this pain I feel as a reflection to the love, connection and relationship we shared through the years. Give my yiya my love. Rest In Peace pain free my love. Thanks for in trusting in me all you shared of yourself.
