I continue to tell myself my Aunty is in a good place today, seated beside our Lord, no pain, no sickness, in her brand new body-and rejoicing with those she missed so much. All 'catching up! But I am going to miss her so much. Aunty never said no to any request, she was proud of her family members and supported them in their walk of life. She loved children, and could converse with them so well.

She had a happy heart, sense of humor, and I will always remember her smile and laugh, she was one of a kind.

Every time I seen her, I told her 'I love you' and she would in return tell me she loved me.

I am proud of all the things she accomplished in her young life. She did many fine things to help our people. Aunty was like my Mom, that's how close we were, and we shared so many conversations that truly helped me.

As much as I am going to miss you Aunty, you enjoy that eternal life that you worked so hard for. One day we will meet again.

I love you Aunty.
