“ Oh my goodness, what a women. She lit up any place she was at. You knew she was there cuz you could hear her the moment you got out of the vehicle. Ya that laugh could bring the most bitter person to an air of light.

She had a way about her. She told it like it was, laughed and was always accepting of others. Their visits to my mom and dad's house were always a kick in the pants. Never wanted to leave if they were around. She would give my dad both barrels sometimes and mom would laugh and ad lib and fun was had by all. . You always new it would be worth the visit if she was going to be there. She had the best hugs too. That hug could make you feel invincible or bring a grown man to tears. If you had a good day, a bad day, or if you felt alone she always had a full bear hug to make it better and it did just that. You could be so upset and angry, and by God if that lady didn't have a way of making you take it in stride and laugh about it. She and mom ,dad were to say the least bestest friends and when you mixed'em together they were fabulously fantastic. Something you had to feel with your heart. That was magical. She loved with no boundaries and she let you know it. Miss you Pauline. Love wendy

You know it's been 17 years since Pauline had past on, and it is still true to this day, she is still missed. I can still remember and hear her laugh, if in any type of mood she had a way of turning it in to a good time. When ever I feel cranky all I have to do is think of what Pauline would say and still she makes one laugh. We had so much fun sharing and laughing about everything. I love teasing her, she would get a big kick out of all we said. She was not only my best of friend, she was my guide in life and I still remember her words of advice, always light and cheery. There will be no one that could take her place. She was the best of everything. Love that woman dearly to this day. Now her husband William (Vaughn) past on a couple days ago and they will be joined together once again,. Have to look out now, for those two ar ees like dynamite full of fun and all. Do miss them both dearly. Always will be in my heart and sole. Love you both.

“ Aunt Polly was one of a kind. She was the most gentle soul and always so very kind to me. I always got such a kick out of watching her and her sister, Rose visit with each other. They were sisters, but more than that they were twins, but even more than that they were best friends! They would talk and laugh for hours about everything or nothing at all. It didn't matter what the subject was, or even if there was a subject, they were always laughing! And Aunt Polly had the most infectious laugh! You couldn't be within the sound of her laugh and not laugh yourself. That was such a precious gift to us all and I don't even think she realized that. She always had a way of putting a smile on your face. She also had a way of listening to whatever of life's challenges you are facing at the time and give you good advice. By the time you were done talking to Polly... you were laughing. She may have been a diamond in the rough at times, but she was always a gem in my eyes. I know I'm going to miss spending time visiting with Aunt Polly at family functions. There will definitely be a big void in the family without her. So long for now Aunt Polly. Have a great time visiting with your family in Heaven. If I am lucky enough to make it there someday, I know you will be easy to find. All I will have to do is listen for the Angel that's laughing the loudest. Until then.....
